Summer Reading 2024
A few words about Middle School Summer Reading...

Natick's middle school Language & Literacy teachers have selected required texts to provide rich literary experiences to keep students reading and growing during the summer months. It is critically important that students stay engaged during the summer months to help with the transition back to school next fall. The required titles will serve as a launch to learning for students in the fall and will offer teachers an opportunity to create learning experiences related to summer reading that will target key skills and standards as well as building classroom community. Teachers will plan discussions and assignments to complement these titles, so it will be important to read carefully and critically.

Students need to select one of the following texts to read, but if interested, students can certainly read more than one of the choices. Titles with a * have audiobooks available and links are provided on each page with information about how to sign up for library cards to access the books electronically for free.

Summer Reading Titles are available for simultaneous use with Sora. Use Sora for audiobooks by signing in with your NatickPS email account. See instructions HERE.

Books can also be purchased online from local bookstores. You can find copies of summer reading books from Wellesley Books (see PTO promotion below) or from Barnes & Noble and Ten Trees Books in Natick.

In addition to the required text for the grade level, students should read at least two other books. Visit our School Library home pages (KMS / WMS) or the local library or bookseller for recommendations!

The PTO is pleased to partner again with Wellesley Books for Summer Reading Books. The online bookstore links will be available from Friday, May 17th until Friday, May 31st, where 20% will go to supporting the two schools’ PTOs. All books will be available at Wellesley Books after this for families to buy.

Please access this link to order through the PTO:
https://www.wellesleybooks.com/kennedy-wilson-2024-summer-reading

Families can specify on the website if they would like to purchase in–store; if so, they will receive a printable voucher that can be brought to Wellesley Books to contribute towards the PTO. The donation at Wellesley Books is based on summer reading titles only.
“The right book, at the right time, can span the divide between where the reader stands in this moment and alternate views, new ideas, and options not yet considered... a [book as a] bridge gives us the ability to gain new perspectives, the freedom to think for ourselves, and the power to choose what to do with our new insights.” (From Reading to Make a Difference by Lester L. Laminack and Katie Kelly)

Reading is a wonderful way to not only engage in great stories, but to develop empathy and understand others’ perspectives. As part of this process of understanding others’ stories, some of our titles explore heavy themes connected to loss and grief. We recommend your child explore the descriptions at their grade level to see what stories are most compelling to them and the best fit.

Nowhere Boy*
by Katherine Marsh

Fourteen-year-old Ahmed is stuck in a city that wants nothing to do with him. Newly arrived in Brussels, Belgium, Ahmed fled a life of uncertainty and suffering in Aleppo, Syria, only to lose his father on the perilous journey to the shores of Europe. Now Ahmed’s struggling to get by on his own, but with no one left to trust and nowhere to go, he’s starting to lose hope.

Then he meets Max, a thirteen-year-old American boy from Washington, D.C. Lonely and homesick, Max is struggling at his new school and just can’t seem to do anything right. But with one startling discovery, Max and Ahmed’s lives collide and a friendship begins to grow. Together, Max and Ahmed will defy the odds, learning from each other what it means to be brave and how hope can change your destiny.

Set against the backdrop of the Syrian refugee crisis, award-winning author of Jepp, Who Defied the Stars Katherine Marsh delivers a gripping, heartwarming story of resilience, friendship and everyday heroes.

Think about the following questions in preparation for class discussion:

- How do the problems faced by the main character(s) impact their development throughout the story?
- Explain how characters use the close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.
- How does the main character(s)’ motivation impact the choices they make? What are the consequences of those choices?
- What differences exist in the backgrounds of characters in the story and how do they impact the plot?

Eli and his family have lived in the underground Compound for six years. The world they knew is gone, and they've become accustomed to their new life. Accustomed, but not happy. No amount of luxury can stifle the dull routine of living in the same place, with only his two sisters, only his father and mother, doing the same thing day after day after day. As problems with their carefully planned existence threaten to destroy their sanctuary—and their sanity—Eli can't help but wonder if he'd rather take his chances outside. Eli's father built the Compound to keep them safe. But are they safe—really?

Think about the following questions in preparation for class discussion:

- How do the problems faced by the main character(s) impact their development throughout the story?
- Explain how characters use the close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

Four kids fighting for their lives.

Akira is riding her horse in the California woods when a wildfire sparks--and grows scarily fast. How can she make it to safety when there are flames everywhere?

Owen and his best friend, George, are used to seeing polar bears on the snowy Canadian tundra. But when one bear gets way too close for comfort, do the boys have any chance of surviving?

Natalie hunkers down at home as a massive hurricane barrels toward Miami. When the floodwaters crash into her house, Natalie is dragged out into the storm--with nowhere to hide.

Akira, Owen, George, and Natalie are all swept up in the devastating effects of climate change. They are also connected in ways that will shock them--and could alter their destinies forever.

Bestselling author Alan Gratz is at the top of his game, shining a light on our increasingly urgent climate crisis while spinning an action-packed story that will keep readers hooked--and inspire them to take action.

The Labors of Hercules Beal

by Gary D. Schmidt

Herc Beal knows who he's named after—a mythical hero—but he's no superhero. He's the smallest kid in his class. So when his homeroom teacher at his new middle school gives him the assignment of duplicating the mythical Hercules's amazing feats in real life, he's skeptical. After all, there are no Nemean Lions on Cape Cod—and not a single Hydra in sight.

Missing his parents terribly and wishing his older brother wasn't working all the time, Herc figures out how to take his first steps along the road that the great Hercules himself once walked. Soon, new friends, human and animal, are helping him. And though his mythical role model performed his twelve labors by himself, Herc begins to see that he may not have to go it alone.

As you read, think about these questions:

- How do the characters stand up for who they are and embrace what makes them unique?
- How do the experiences the characters endure help them learn and grow?
- Explain how the characters find and develop unexpected or unique friendships.
- Explain how characters use close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

When twelve-year-old Maddie hatches a scheme for a secret sleepover with her two best friends, she ends up waking up to a nightmare. She’s alone—left behind in a town that has been mysteriously evacuated and abandoned.

With no one to rely on, no power, and no working phone lines or internet access, Maddie slowly learns to survive on her own. Her only companions are a Rottweiler named George and all the books she can read. After a rough start, Maddie learns to trust her own ingenuity and invents clever ways to survive in a place that has been deserted and forgotten.

As months pass, she escapes natural disasters, looters, and wild animals. But Maddie’s most formidable enemy is the crushing loneliness she faces every day. Can Maddie’s stubborn will to survive carry her through the most frightening experience of her life?

As you read, think about these questions:

- How do the characters stand up for who they are and embrace what makes them unique?
- How do the experiences the characters endure help them learn and grow?
- Explain how the characters find and develop unexpected or unique friendships.
- Explain how characters use close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

Shot Clock

by Caron Butler and Justin A. Reynolds

Former NBA All-Star Caron Butler and acclaimed author Justin A. Reynolds tip off the first book in a new middle grade series about a young boy trying to make his mark on an AAU basketball team coached by a former NBA star in his hometown. Perfect for fans of The Crossover and the Track series.

Tony loves basketball. But the game changed recently when his best friend, Dante, a hoops phenom, was shot by a police officer. Tony hopes he can carry on Dante’s legacy by making the Sabres, the AAU basketball team Dante took to two national championships.

Tony doesn’t make the team, but Coach James likes what he sees from Tony at tryouts and offers him another chance: join the team as the statistician. With his community reeling and the team just finding its footing on the court, can Tony find a path to healing while helping to bring the Sabres a championship?

As you read, think about these questions:

- How do the characters stand up for who they are and embrace what makes them unique?
- How do the experiences the characters endure help them learn and grow?
- Explain how the characters find and develop unexpected or unique friendships.
- Explain how characters use close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

The Insiders

by Mark Oshiro

Three kids who don’t belong. A room that shouldn’t exist. A year that will change everything.

San Francisco and Orangevale may be in the same state, but for Héctor Muñoz, they might as well be a million miles apart. Back home, being gay didn’t mean feeling different. At Héctor’s new school, he couldn’t feel more alone.

Most days, Héctor just wishes he could disappear. And he does. Right into the janitor’s closet. (Yes, he sees the irony.) But one day, when the door closes behind him, Héctor discovers he’s stumbled into a room that shouldn’t be possible. A room that connects him with two new friends from different corners of the country—and opens the door to a life-changing year full of friendship, adventure, and just a little bit of magic.

As you read, think about these questions:

- How do the characters stand up for who they are and embrace what makes them unique?
- How do the experiences the characters endure help them learn and grow?
- Explain how the characters find and develop unexpected or unique friendships.
- Explain how characters use close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

Please note: Copies of The Insiders will be made available through the PTO in mid-July and will need to be picked up in the store or mailed out in late July for those ordering through the PTO.

Avery Bloom, who's bookish, intense, and afraid of many things, particularly deep water, lives in New York City. Bett Devlin, who's fearless, outgoing, and loves all animals as well as the ocean, lives in California. What they have in common is that they are both twelve years old, and are both being raised by single, gay dads.

When their dads fall in love, Bett and Avery are sent, against their will, to the same sleepaway camp. Their dads hope that they will find common ground and become friends—and possibly, one day, even sisters.

But things soon go off the rails for the girls (and for their dads too), and they find themselves on a summer adventure that neither of them could have predicted. Now that they can't imagine life without each other, will Bett and Avery (who sometimes call themselves Night Owl and Dogfish) figure out a way to be a family?

As you read, think about these questions:

- Explain the problem that the main character faces at the beginning of the story.
- What motivates the main character?
- Describe how the main character(s) build their relationships. How do the main character(s) learn and grow with the people around them?
- Explain how characters use the close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

The First Rule of Punk
by
Celia C. Pérez

There are no shortcuts to surviving your first day at a new school—you can’t fix it with duct tape like you would your Chuck Taylors. On Day One, twelve-year-old Malú (María Luisa, if you want to annoy her) inadvertently upsets Posada Middle School’s queen bee, violates the school’s dress code with her punk rock look, and disappoints her college-professor mom in the process. Her dad, who now lives a thousand miles away, says things will get better as long as she remembers the first rule of punk: be yourself.

The real Malú loves rock music, skateboarding, zines, and Soyrizo (hold the cilantro, please). And when she assembles a group of like-minded misfits at school and starts a band, Malú finally begins to feel at home. She'll do anything to preserve this, which includes standing up to an anti-punk school administration to fight for her right to express herself!

As you read, think about these questions:

- Explain the problem that the main character faces at the beginning of the story.
- What motivates the main character?
- Describe how the main character(s) build their relationships. How do the main character(s) learn and grow with the people around them?
- Explain how characters use the close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

Bell has spent his whole life—all eleven years of it—on Mars. But he's still just a regular kid—he loves cats and any kind of cake, and is curious about the secrets the adults in the US colony are keeping. Like, why don't they have contact with anyone on the other Mars colonies? Why are they so isolated? When a virus breaks out and the grown-ups all fall ill, Bell and the other children are the only ones who can help. It's up to Bell—a regular kid in a very different world—to uncover the truth and save his family...and possibly unite an entire planet.

Mars may be a world far, far away, but in the hands of Jennifer L. Holm, beloved and bestselling author of The Fourteenth Goldfish, it can't help but feel like home.

As you read, think about these questions:

- Explain the problem that the main character faces at the beginning of the story.
- What motivates the main character?
- Describe how the main character(s) build their relationships. How do the main character(s) learn and grow with the people around them?
- Explain how characters use the close relationships with others to overcome obstacles and challenges.

Byx is the youngest member of her dairne pack. Believed to possess remarkable abilities, her mythical doglike species has been hunted to near extinction in the war-torn kingdom of Nedarra.

After her pack is hunted down and killed, Byx fears she may be the last of her species. The Endling. So Byx sets out to find safe haven, and to see if the legends of other hidden dairnes are true.

Along the way, she meets new allies—both animals and humans alike—who each have their own motivations for joining her quest. And although they begin as strangers, they become their own kind of family—one that will ultimately uncover a secret that may threaten every creature in their world.

As you read, think about these questions:

- Explain the problem that the main character faces at the beginning of the story.
- What motivates the main character?
- Describe how the main character(s) build their relationships. How do the main character(s) learn and grow with the people around them?

Sara Martinez is a hacker. She recently broke into the New York City foster care system to expose her foster parents as cheats and lawbreakers. However, instead of being hailed as a hero, Sara finds herself facing years in a juvenile detention facility and banned from using computers for the same stretch of time. Enter Mother, a British spy who not only gets Sara released from jail but also offers her a chance to make a home for herself within a secret MI6 agency.

Operating out of a base in Scotland, the City Spies are five kids from various parts of the world. When they’re not attending the local boarding school, they’re honing their unique skills, such as sleight of hand, breaking and entering, observation, and explosives. All of these allow them to go places in the world of espionage where adults can’t.

Before she knows what she’s doing, Sara is heading to Paris for an international youth summit, hacking into a rival school’s computer to prevent them from winning a million euros, dangling thirty feet off the side of a building, and trying to stop a villain...all while navigating the complex dynamics of her new team.

No one said saving the world was easy...

As you read, think about these questions:

- Explain the problem that the main character faces at the beginning of the story.

Peter and his best friend, Tommy, have a goal for their last summer before middle school: finish their Discovery Journal, a catalog of the wildlife around their Florida town. When they spot a manatee in a canal, Peter knows they’ve found something special—and when the manatee is injured by a boat, something to protect!

As Peter joins the fight to save Florida manatees, he also finds himself taking care of his ailing grandfather and facing an unwelcome surprise that jeopardizes his friendship with Tommy. Soon Peter is adrift, navigating shifting tides and realizing that he has as much to discover about himself as he does about the world around him.

As you read, think about these questions:

How far would you go to keep a promise? Told from alternating points of view, Hidden Truths is a story of changing friendships, the lies we tell, the secrets we keep, and the healing power of forgiveness.

Dani and Eric have been best friends since Dani moved next door in second grade. They bond over donuts, comic books, and camping on the Cape.

Until one summer when everything changes.

Did Eric cause the accident that leaves Dani unable to do the one thing in the world she most cares about? The question plagues him, and he will do anything to get answers about the explosion that injured her. But Dani is hurting too much to want Eric to pursue the truth—she just wants to shut him out and move on. Besides, Eric has a history of dropping things he starts. Eric knows that and is determined that this will be the one time he follows through.

But what if his pursuit brings him into direct conflict with another friend? Where does Eric’s loyalty really lie?

As you read, think about these questions:

- Think about the characters in your book. Who do you identify with and why?
- What would you tell your friends about this book?
- How does the main character change from the beginning of the story to the end?
- How do friends affect our identity positively or negatively? What is a true friend?

Everyone knows that twelve-year-old Madison “Madi” Lewis is not allowed to bring home any more animals.

After she's saved hairless mice, two birds, a rabbit, and a stray tom cat that ended up destroying the front porch, Madi’s parents decide that if they find one more stray animal in the house, she won’t be allowed to meet Jane Goodall at an upcoming gala event.

But when Madi and her two best friends, Aaron and Jack, rescue beaver kits whose mother was killed, they find themselves at the center of a local conspiracy that’s putting the beavers and their habitats in danger.

As Madi and her friends race to uncover the threat targeting the beavers, Madi must put her animal whisperer skills to the test in both raising the orphaned beaver kits and staying out of trouble long enough.

The Mighty Dynamo
by
Kieran Crowley

A boy. A game. A dream. Will a false accusation crush all his hopes or will the Mighty Dynamo live up to his nickname?

More than anything, Noah Murphy wants to be a professional soccer player—and participating in the Schools' World Cup qualifiers might be just what he needs to get scouted. But when he's suspiciously banned from his school team for something he didn't even do, all his dreams come crashing down.

Determined to live up to his reputation as a dynamo, Noah must find his own way to enter the contest no matter what it takes. With his best friend Stevie on tactics, and the skills of some unlikely new teammates, he's soon ready to take on the world—just as long as no one plays foul.

Ruby Finley vs. The Interstellar Invasion

by

K. Tempest Bradford

Eleven-year-old Ruby is a Black girl who loves studying insects and would do just about anything to be an entomologist, much to the grossed-out dismay of her Gramma. Ruby knows everything there is to know about insects so when she finds the weirdest bug she’s ever seen in her front yard, she makes sure no one is looking and captures it for further study.

But then Ruby realizes that the creature isn't just a regular bug. And it has promptly burned a hole through her window and disappeared. Soon, random things around the neighborhood go missing, and no one's heard from the old lady down the street for a week. Ruby and her friends will have to recover the strange bug before the feds do.

Ruby is the science hero we’ve all been waiting for!
